RE: Testimonial

To Whom It May Concern:

As the owner of a firm that specializes in locating missing persons, I've been contacted in the past by many "asset locator/heir finder" companies who repute to assist people to recover previously unknown assets. Many of these companies turned out to be less than upfront, both with my company and the people they supposedly assist. So when John Fox of Asset Recovery, Inc. contacted us, I initially scoffed at the notion he differed from these other firms. I was wrong! We've now assisted John on many occasions and I have the utmost respect for how he conducts his business. He has repeatedly demonstrated a concern for our relationship and for those people he helps. His detailed, thorough and conscientious approach to business associates and clients is beneficial to all. I would not hesitate in recommending Asset Recovery, Inc or John Fox as a business partner or for assistance in recovering your assets.
